

Style in Umbrellas

YOU will perhaps be amused when we say that so commonplace an article as an umbrella can be termed "stylish"—or otherwise.

Style in umbrellas is attained by painstaking attention to the fine points of fashion.

The perfect style, the exclusive design and the fine wearing qualities of a Birk's umbrella make it a very welcome gift.

Birk's umbrellas are priced $3.00 to $40.00

ALL MCGILL WISHES TEAM BON VOYAGE

All Roads Lead To Kingston To-Day.

SQUAD "IN THE PINK."

Two Trains Carry Those Who Are Making the Trip.

Accompanied by approximately 1,000 supporters, Coach Shaughnessy and his band of Red and White Rugby players will leave the Bonaventure Station this morning bound for Kingston, where the McGill squad will face the Blue and White team this afternoon in the play-off for the 1920 championship of the Intercollegiate series. Seldom in the history of the grand old game at McGill has such enthusiasm been manifested as that which is being shown by the McGill supporters. When the two specials leave the city this morning there will be aboard the trains, besides several undergraduates of McGill, an equal number of graduates and friends, all of whom are going up to the Limestone City to give their utmost aid in helping the team to victory. For the convenience of those who were not able to get railway transportation for the specials, arrangements have been made to have the ticket agent at the station at 7.30 a.m., and until the time the trains pull out he will take up his stand near the news stand to supply tickets to those wishing to travel on the McGill trains.

With a big squad of Rooters going up to Kingston, and with the play-off spirit permeating the student body as a whole, nothing but Rugby will be discussed to-day. The Rooters who were not able to make the trip have arranged to be at the train this morning, that the contingent might be given a rousing send-off. Then the students will plan where best to take up their position to follow the game as word is brought to the city by wire. To accommodate the enthusiasts arrangements have been made by the "Daily" for a special leased wire and all plays will be given in detail as the game progresses. Reports will be read at the Union as they come in, commencing about 2.15 p.m. Word from the Limestone City is to the effect that the weather is cloudy and moderately cold with snow on the gridiron, but that either rain or frost before the game would put the field in excellent condition. Work on the stands has been completed, and everything is in readiness to handle the biggest crowd that ever attended a Rugby fixture at Kingston.

With the greatest confidence in the result has been expressed by Varsity supporters, from press reports, which have arrived recently it would seem that they are not quite so certain of victory, with the result

Large Objective Set By Campaign Organizers.

COMMERCE LEADING.

Results Total Over $8,000—Objective $40,000—Pledge System a Success.

The undergraduate campaign for the Endowment Fund is off to a splendid start. At the luncheon yesterday the chairman, Keith Hutchison, announced $4,725.00, chiefly from Commerce and Medicine. Returns at that time gave:

Commerce, 91 subscriptions..	$2,600
Medicine, 34 subscriptions..	1,375
Dentistry, 13 subscriptions..	200
Science, 18 subscriptions..	550
	65
	$4,725

Commerce apparently were the best organized for the first day, and they lead the College both in number of subscriptions and total returns. Out of an enrollment of only 150 men they have subscribed $2,600, and report returns still coming in. First year gave well over half of this sum. Since all faculties are expected to do as well as this, objectives are now set as follows:

Science.....	$12,000
Medicine.....	14,000
Law.....	4,000
Arts.....	8,000
Dentistry.....	2,000
Total.....	$40,000

Totals must be reached by Monday night, when all returns are to be handed in to Keith Hutchison in the Union, from 5.30 to 6 p.m. Every man will have to "put his shoulder to the wheel" and help the class captains to get all the pledge cards by Monday afternoon. This applies

JUNIOR TEAM TUSSLES FOR RUGBY TITLE

Playoff Grand Trunks For Championship.

POINT ST. CHARLES.

Rooters Requested For Physical Support.

This afternoon the undefeated McGill Juniors will battle for the Provincial Championship of the Q.R.F.U. Their opponents, the Grand Trunks, have won all their games and will put up a stiff battle for the championship honors. Last week they defeated St. Lambert in the semifinals, and the play-off will take place at Alexandria Park in Point St. Charles.

The Juniors are at the top of their form; "Shag" has released a number of his best plays for them and put them through several snappy workouts, in which they made the Seniors step lively on the line and in the backfield. All that the Juniors need is a little backing from the students to "bring home the bacon." Everybody who is not going up to Kingston should come down and give a cheer. Last week the Grand Trunk supporters turned out in force at Westmount Park and got a trifle out of hand. The McGill squad would appreciate the moral and physical support which a goodly body of "rooters" would furnish. This is no idle request, and the Juniors will certainly put up a fast match with lots of tricks, well worth seeing.

Captain "Eddie" Crain is confident of his team, and will have all the regular line out except Eason, who has a bad knee. Pearce will boot for the Students, and Williamson and Whittall will be right there with the line-plunging. Mallison's snappy work at flying wing has been a feature of the team's work all season, and Puddicombe and Emo have been smashing their opponents' lines for big gains right along. Schwartzman and Dion are fast and sure tackles on the wings, and will be right after Taylor, the speedy G. T. half-back, who is noted for spectacular work in a broken field when running back kicks. Foss and Grant will be out, and "Len" Reid will hold down centre scrimmage. "Len" is speedy, a deadly tackle and right down under kicks. Captain "Eddie" Crain will play in the key position, and is a born quarter-back who bids fair to go far in football.

"Eddie" will probably start the following men in the game:

Halves—Pearce, Williamson and Whittall.

Flying Wing—Mallison.

Quarter—Crain (capt.).

Wings—Dion and Schwartzman.

Middles—Emo and Grant.

Insides—Foss and Puddicombe.

Scrimmage—Reid, Matthews and Johnston.

THE SERVICE STATION

"Free Air"

Said a Reverend, who loved to exhort 'em,
"Into saved and unsaved I shall sort 'em.
And vile persons who chance
Have no ghost of a chance
At a place up in Heaven post-mortem."

Our bosom friend Doc Cooper is something of a philosopher. "After all, he says, 'men and triangles are much the same. The lower part of each is the base.'"

Thirty thousand were killed in Biblical days by the jawbone of an ass. Any casualty lists from Yale or East Elgin yet?

Add Influences of the Farce Intime.
Sir,—The last time I was in Chi. (you know Chi., moisture, noise and clinders) there were no bootleggers, but up on 63rd Avenue, near University, I saw the following sign in a shop window, "Bed Room Sult, $120." Beaucoup bedroom if it matches that, eh what? RISORUS.

"Drinkwater Urges Realistic Drama." Newspaper heading. With such a name, what other course was open to him?

We have been hugely interested of late in the serial run by our esteemed contempt, the "Star," under the alluring title, "Unseen Hands." Seeing hitherto unseen hands has more largely contributed to our impoverishment than any other single cause.

We have long been exercised by the following question, and there is perhaps no better time than the present to offer it to you for solution. Does the winner or the loser remember a monumental pot the longer? Expressions of opinion are invited.

The Fall Guy Speaks.
I am not, as I have said, without affection.
I freely yield th' appreciative glance,
And if she's fair, or fair, my predilection
Has been, and over is, to take a chance.
I do not ask that she be wise or witty,
More lack of brains my ardor will not damp.
But though she's old or young, a dowd or pretty,
One thing she must not be, a sea-green vamp.

Their games have lived to us through vivid pages,
The purple passages of history.
The high-lights of the stories of the ages
Are furnished by these dames of mystery.
From Cleo to the slithery Cleopatra,
Or Helen of the sounding plains of Troy,
To moderns, be it Greenland or Sumatra,
They mark and snare their victims, man or boy.

From Eve, who by the apple tangled Adam,
To Theda of the minute-before-last,
Each one of us has loved and briefly had 'em,
Then for the next each in his turn has passed.
And so I sit and strum, a doleful harper,
And make good resolutions, knowing well,
Ere many moon have waned, some amorous sharper
Will tell her sisters, "Geo. how soft he fell."

Speaking of This and That.
Sir,—I will say to you, "Mac, how is our football team like the so-great M. Carpenter?" And you will say, "Gil, I don't know. How is our football team like the so-great M. Carpenter?" And I will say, "Because it has a 'Punch' on the end of the wing." Then you will be angry because you didn't think of it first, and I will have joined the "Air" force. By the way, do you store batteries for the winter? Maure's Service Station on St. Laurent does. I would hazard that a pair of lamps would be more to your taste. Yours, GIL BLAS.

Started your Christmas shopping yet? Perhaps, like many more of us, you are waiting till this afternoon's battle, to decide whether or not you will have any to do.

No prognostications with regard to the results are obtainable. The best J. K. could do was, "You tell 'em, wall-paper. You're on the inside." McQUOCHLE.

A great crime is in a great man greater.

McDougal, Helmecken.
Halves—Day, Clarke, Dawson.
Forwards—Lohead, McLean, Mitchell, Roome, Patterson, Dobson, A. R. Lawrence, Kemp.
Reserves—Backs: Gooch, Kelley, Spriggs. Forwards: Wilson, Trites, Humphrey.

All of the above men will get a chance to play at least half the game. Anyone who cannot appear is asked to phone Norm, Kemp, Uptown 6084, at noon hour. The game will be played regardless of weather conditions.

(Special to the "McGill Daily")
+ Kingston, Ont., Nov. 19th.
+ Everything is in readiness here for the big game between McGill and Toronto Varsity to-morrow afternoon. There have been light rains during the afternoon and the weather to-night is cloudy and moderately cold. The weather-wise are of the opinion that only a heavy frost to-night or warm sunshine in the morning will put the playing-field in anything like decent shape. The intermediates will make use of the field in the morning when Queen's will meet Varsity in the finals of the Intercollegiate Intermediate Championship and it is to be feared that the already soggy ground will be badly cut up, rendering the going extremely heavy for the seniors' battle. Great excitement is being evinced on all sides and there is every prospect of a record attendance when the rival teams kick-off in to-morrow's historic encounter.

To the Editor "McGill Daily,"
Dear Sir,—
Referring to your recent leading article relative to the fact that the Law Department has been entirely overlooked in the proposed allocation of the coming Campaign fund, I wish to give vent to my pent up feelings in the matter. Really, Sir, it seems incredible that the Law Faculty should not even have been mentioned. Had the Committee in charge even condescended to put the Jurists down for twenty-five dollars to provide circulating ventilators in the windows, things would not have been so bad.

Two years ago, the Faculty of Law in toto was put out of its commodious quarters in the Arts Building to make way, forsooth, for the incoming hordes of Medical freshmen (Shades of Justinian!) and housed in a miserable stone hut on University street. Now, I have it on good authority that this building was first offered to a local Chinese laundryman. The Celestial, it appears, stated that he would accept the use of the building on condition that he and his compatriots be allowed to enter and leave it by the back door and out through the University grounds. It developed that he feared that he would "lose face" in the eyes of the general public were he to be observed entering the building. However, the University authorities could not see eye to eye with the Oriental in this connection, and as a sale of the building was out of the question, it was turned over to the Law students.

The present accommodation is almost unbearable, both to professors and students alike. Lectures are being continually interrupted by students falling out of the over-crowded benches. Again, it is such a common occurrence for the women students to swoon as a result of the terrible air that nobody even looks up to see who the lucky girl is as she is carried out of the room by the First Aid squad on duty for that purpose. In addition to this, Janitors will not hold their jobs for more than twenty-four hours, each new man declaring that his life is in jeopardy by beams and parts of the flooring falling into the basement.

This letter, I feel sure, will be abortive as far as practical results are concerned. Nevertheless, it is somewhat of a relief to shed light on the present situation of McGill Law students.

LONG SUFFERING PETTIFOGGER.

R. V. C. NOTES

R. V. C. REPRESENTATIVES TO GO TO KINGSTON.

This year it was the general feeling in R. V. C. that we should have representatives at Kingston to see the all-important play-off. A general meeting of all years was held and it was decided to send one representative from each year to be drawn by lot. The lucky four were:

4th Year—K. Ford.
3rd Year—T. Rough.
2nd Year—G. Gittleson.
1st Year—M. Dyke.

Eleven other girls are also going, as well as two girls from the School of Physical Education. So in all about fifteen girls will leave this morning for Kingston on the special train. Miss Cartwright has very kindly consented to act as chaperone for the girls. Best success to the team!

MEETING OF STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.
A meeting of the Students' Christian Association was held yesterday in the Common Room at 5 o'clock. After the formal opening of the meeting the minutes were read and approved. Miss L. Riley was elected as missionary convener. It was moved and seconded that donations be collected from each year by a girl elected for the purpose. The girls elected were as follows:

4th Year—Eunice Borden.
3rd Year—E. Snyder.
2nd Year—S. Dorken.
1st Year—N. Safford.

Then it was moved that any girl in college may join the association. Lorna Kerr was elected to go to the conference at Guelph at Christmas for which the money is to be taken from the association funds. The proposed constitution sent to us from Toronto was then read and discussed, afterwards the meeting adjourned.

UNDERGRADUATES.
Cards for the McGill Campaign may be obtained from year presidents or from Miss Trenholme. Any student who wishes to contribute should fill in cards and return them as soon as possible to your presidents or to Miss Trenholme (Friday noon, if possible).

DELTA SIGMA SOCIETY.
Mrs. Irwin has again kindly offered two prizes for the best original prose work and best original poem by students of R. V. C. In order to make the contest worth while there should be at least twenty-five contestants. As the contest does not close until March there is plenty of time to invoke the aid of the muses. Will those interested please sign up.

SPECIAL MUSIC SUNDAY NIGHT

Usual Sunday "Sing" To Be Held At Hall.

There will be a special attraction in music for Sunday evening at Strathcona Hall. As usual all students are invited.

The "Sings" are held for the benefit of every undergraduate. No rigid program is followed. It is difficult to vary the form so that they will always be interesting. Those who are in charge are trying to make them enjoyable. A committee of men and women is on hand every evening. The members would welcome helpful suggestions, so that anyone who sees a feature test that might be improved need not be backward in approaching them.

WE ARE OUT TO WIN

We are out to win to-day. Every man in the college is out to see the team win and the spirit of all will be centred in the fourteen men in the Red and White uniform. We are out to win, but we are not out with the sole purpose of winning. Every graduate and student of McGill wants to see the team fight, and fight hard, and, whether we win or not, the team will battle at top speed from the first kick-off to the final sound of the whistle.

Over a thousand supporters of the team will travel to cheer on their favorites and every man who does not make the trip will be out to show that he wishes he could go. There is a big task for the thousand lucky persons, for they have to do the rooting of the two thousand who are left at home. However, they will do it just as the team will do their part of the work.

A day such as the present arrives not more than once in a decade, if it comes that often, and we must do our part to make it the one day in a lifetime. Every McGill man is pleased that the team has had to fight hard for its victories. Our team of last season did not create half of the enthusiasm seen this season because it was not forced to extend itself in order to win. We want to see our team fight because they never show to advantage against a poor team. When arrayed against heavy odds they show the true spirit of McGill men and that is what we are going to see this afternoon.

We cannot attempt to convey on paper the feeling of the student body concerning the game. That would be impossible. But the best interpretation we can give it is to say that "WE ARE OUT TO WIN TO-DAY."

RALLY ROUND MCGILL

On this the last day of the McGill Centennial Campaign there still remains over a million dollars to be secured. When the totals are finally made up it will probably be found that the objective has indeed been attained, but by how narrow a margin? The whirlwind campaign upon which so much depends seems to have abated somewhat in its intensity.

The fault does obviously not lie with the Campaign Committee. Their efforts have been untiring, and they have done all that lies in their power to awaken the public to a sense of their responsibility, and to a realization of the debt that they owe to McGill.

Glancing at the dwindling subscription lists we cannot fail to note the absence of many names well-known in local financial circles. This may possibly be due to the present depressed condition of the money market. This hypothesis at least provides a convenient excuse for the less generous. Such a deficiency is happily the exception rather than the rule. But it is a deficiency none the less glaring, and is obviously having a depressing effect upon the campaign as a whole.

There is only one more day. The citizens of Montreal have still time to uphold their reputation for philanthropy. We have confidence in the ultimate success of the great issue at stake. Is this confidence justified?

CAPITAL'S TEAM UNABLE TO COME

Game With Montreal English Team Will Be Played Instead.

The All-Star vs. Ottawa English Rugby game scheduled for to-day has been cancelled owing to Ottawa's inability to make the trip. The majority of the Capital City team are members of the Canadian Mounted Police, and emergency duties prevent them from making the trip. However, a game between McGill and the Montreal English Rugby team has been arranged to take the place of the cancelled feature. As the McGill team stands to get away to an early start next fall, the manager arranged to-day's fixture in order to get a line on some of the new men who have not taken part in a representation this season.

Prospects are very bright in local Rugby circles, and McGill will be represented by at least two teams next season. It is hoped to take the first team on a tour of the Maritime Provinces before college opens in the fall. With this end in view, the management intend to play as many games during the balance of the present season as weather conditions will permit.

To-day's game will be at the Stadium at 3 p.m. The following men are requested to turn out:

Full-back—Bradshaw.
Three-quarters—McKinnon, Lantz, that odds on the Blue and White as winners, which were being given earlier in the week, have dropped and now the odds are figured as an even chance for either squad.

Varsity players, under Coach Liddle Cassells, journeyed down to Kingston yesterday to rest up for the coming battle. No announcement will be made by Coach Cassells as to the line-up of his team until the last minute, but it is fully expected that the team will be the same as that which met defeat at the hands of McGill two weeks ago, with the exception of Hobbs, who will replace Duncan at quarter, Snyder, who will fill in at centre half instead of Joe Taylor and Westman who will go to his old position at left middle. It is understood that Houston, the big Blue and White scrum-magger, will be replaced by Ferguson.

Varsity Rooters will be out in force to boost for their squad in an effort to take the titular Rugby honors away from McGill, and with the Blue and White crowd cheering against "Teedies" contingent some lively support is promised those who attend the game.

Yesterday afternoon the McGill squad were rested up by Coach Shaughnessy, who had the men up giving their "duds" the once over before being shipped, and then took them for a short stroll along Sherbrooke Street. The same team that defeated Varsity two weeks ago will face the Blue and White in the big tilt this afternoon, and from the way the men have been going during the past two weeks they are in perfect condition, and certain that they will be able to put up the fight that will keep the bunting at McGill. No flash statements of what the team will do are being made, but it is a certainty that on their past showing it has as good a chance as Varsity to walk off victorious at the end of the game.

GRIDIRON GRIST

(By "FIELD GOAL")

Not many hours are left now before the Intercollegiate Rugby Championship will be settled for another year. For days the students at both Varsity and McGill have done little else but talk football, think football and in many cases probably dream about football. During this time about three dozen of the students at both colleges have been each afternoon, no matter what the weather conditions were like, playing football and being coached in the plays for the game that is to be staged this afternoon. The two rival fourteen teams will face each other on the gridiron in Kingston to-day, both trained to the minute and instructed in all the football tactics that the coach of each squad knows. The present season has seen another race for the championship between the McGill and Varsity fourteen. In their first meeting McGill went down to defeat by the score of 13-7. This game was played in Toronto and the Blue and White's victory was mainly due to the wonderful kicking of J. Taylor. The second meeting between the two fourteen teams took place in Montreal on November 6th, and the Red and White won out by the score of 7-3. This game was probably one of the most exciting ever witnessed in Montreal. The McGill team had been strengthened since the game in Toronto by the addition of Dick Carroll to the back division. Flanagan was, also, in better shape for this game, and these two good kickers more than held their own with Taylor in the punting game; and Carroll is an adept at up-kicking, putting a beautiful drop over the bar early in the game against Varsity in Montreal.

The McGill team which meets Varsity this afternoon will start out with the same line-up as downed the Blue and White once already this season. Varsity have, according to reports received, made some changes in their personnel since the last meeting between the Red and White. J. Taylor, who has performed so well as a punter all season, has been dropped and Snyder is playing in his place. Hobbs will be at quarter, and the Toronto fourteen will be stronger as regards this position than they were in Montreal. Two changes have been made on the line. Westman will be playing middle wing in place of Earle, and Ferguson has replaced Houston in the scrum. Duncan will be back at flying-wing, which position Snyder filled in the game in Montreal. We hope that this shifting around of the squad at the last minute betrays a weakness on the Blue and White team.

Kingston will hardly know itself to-day. Varsity will probably have as many if not more supporters down for the game than McGill is sending up. This is only natural when we compare the size of the two Universities. About 1,000 are making the trip from Montreal. The citizens of the Limestone City will be quite subdued and borne down by the enthusiasts from the contending colleges.

A report from Kingston as to condition of the grounds was received late yesterday afternoon. Apparently prospects for a good field for the game were none too good. It rained in Kingston yesterday morning and was cloudy there last night. Fortunately, the field was cleared of snow early in the week, so there will only be a rain to wet it and make it soggy. A hard frost or bright sunshine might help conditions somewhat. If the intermediate game that is scheduled to be played in Kingston to-day between Varsity II and Queen's II is staged at the Queen's Athletic Grounds this morning, the field is not going to be improved for its afternoon. The second team games used to be played in 1913 and 14 on a campus just behind the University Buildings. It may be possible to play the game scheduled for this morning on this field, in which case the gridiron at the Athletic Grounds would be in better shape for its afternoon.

It is a strange thing that every time there is a play-off in the Intercollegiate in which McGill has figured since 1912, that is three times, ending at the Montreal University some time before the final game is anything but cheerful. As the time of the game approaches the tone adopted by the fans is more hopeful, until just as the team lines up for the kick-off, every McGill supporter is absolutely certain that the Red and White will be victorious. Such is the feeling to-day.

The spirit of McGill University will be with the team to-day. We expect a victory and hope that our team will present us with one. They have the best wishes of all the fans, and here is a final "GOOD LUCK" Capt. "Dud" Ross and his team-mates.

cially to Arts, where activity so far has been lacking.

A new arrangement has been made whereby men who cannot see their way clear to paying the first installment on January 1, 1921, will be allowed to begin payment on January 1, 1922. The campaign committee, however, ask that this allowance be only in extreme cases where the circumstances make it impossible to pay the regular first installment.

ate returns Friday evening listed the first three years in Medicine with $1,800 and Science with a total of $1,390, made up as follows in the six main departments:

Chemical	$435
Physics	205
Metrical	235
Chemical	175
Metallurgy	125
Engineering	225
Total	$1,390

Final reports gave the total result as follows:

Commerce	$2,600
Science	2,400
Medicine	2,400
Dentistry	400
Law	275

The captains in the various faculties are well satisfied with the results to date, and have high hopes of attaining the $40,000 objective, large as it is. If all faculties come up to the whirlwind start made by Commerce, there can be no doubt of the final success of the strident campaign. Remember, fellows, that our returns will probably be the last to be reported and $40,000 may help materially at the last minute to make the grand total of $50,000. So pledge up to the limit and help boost your faculty total.

SCIENCE SOPHS BEAT FRESHMEN

Good Exhibition of Indoor Baseball Shown By Both Teams.

A fast and interesting game was played last night at the High School Gym between Science '22 and Science '23. Both teams played hard and put up a very good exhibition. The Science sophs, however, emerged the victors by the score of 10-5. Simpson and Davis both exhibited a fine brand of pitching. The umpire's name has been withheld until the next session of the McGill Law Courts. He was allowed to go on ball after offering to pay for the bat which was broken by the lusty hitters on Science '22.

DR. WHITBY AT CHEM. SOCIETY

Taste and Chemical Constitution Was Subject of Interesting Paper.

A large attendance at the Chemical Society yesterday afternoon heard a most interesting paper by Dr. Whitby on the subject of the "Relation of Taste to the Chemical Constitution of Organic Compounds." This is a remarkable summary of the effects of various groups on the taste of a compound, whether it is sweet or bitter. It has been found that there is a fairly regular gradation of this property of taste in homologous series, structural and spacial isomerism, the phenyl, nitro amino, hydroxyl, amido, basic and haloid groups each having a definite influence on the compound in which they occur.

Various groups will have special properties depending on whether the compound be of the aliphatic or aromatic series, and the position of the influencing substituent has also to be taken into account.

While discrepancies certainly occur, and the personal equation of the investigator has to be considered, yet this work, compiled by G. Cohn, has brought together in an orderly way the hitherto unrelated observations of scores of investigators.

Considerable discussion followed, after which the meeting tendered the speaker a hearty vote of thanks, and adjourned.

NEW COURSE IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Need For Specialists Is Being Recognized.

COVERS 3 YEARS.

Prof. Ernest M. Best, Ph.D., Is In Charge of New Department.

A growing interest in the necessity for a broader and more efficient system of religious education has been evident in the Church during the past few years. The spread of democracy and the war itself aroused the world to a realization of the need of vast extensions in education—education, not only for industrial and agricultural efficiency, but also for moral character and social responsibility.

The Co-operating Theological Colleges are keeping up with the times. This session witnesses a new departure in the shape of a three-year course in Religious Education. This course offers special training for Directors of Religious Education, Y.M. and Y.W.C.A. Secretaries, Leaders in Christian Social Work, etc.

The value of such training was well pointed out by Prof. M. G. Houlton, of Chicago, at the Convention of the Provincial Religious Education Association last week. Prof. Houlton predicted that, in ten years' time, every large church would employ a specialist in Religious Education. The important work of the religious training of the Church's children can not be left in the hands of over-worked, unpaid and untrained volunteers. No one will dispute the necessity of the traditional preaching ministry. The value of that profession cannot be over-estimated. There is, however, a need to revive in the Protestant Churches the teaching ministry. The Master Himself was a Teacher, and we find St. Paul speaking of teachers, as well as pastors and evangelists being appointed.

With this in view, the Co-operating Colleges are offering a course which will endeavor to train men and women in the application of pleasant, interesting and efficient methods of winning the children to a growing devotion to the cause of the Master and His Coming Kingdom.

The Theological Colleges of Montreal are particularly fortunate in being able to utilize the splendid resources of McGill University in this connection. This new departure in training is another evidence of the close of a long feud between Science and Theology. The Christian Church rejoices in the discoveries of both the Physical and Social Sciences and the truth which has been revealed to the Church is recognized as being complementary and not opposed to the truth discovered by Science. With this point of view there is no reason to doubt that a new era of co-operation lies before the Theological Colleges in their relation to the various Faculties of the University.

Prof. Ernest M. Best, Ph.D., who has made a life study of Religious Education, has accepted a professorship in the Co-operating Colleges and is in charge of the new department. The support which has been given the innovation by the Churches and Christian Associations is gratifying. It is hoped that the Department of Religious Education will become a mighty force in the training for leadership in Christian service.

The Decay of the Anglo-Saxon

There has probably never been an age in the past which has been immune from the censorship of the pessimist. Every age has been cursed in its turn, while the days of the past are always roseate with energy and perfection. If any age were to present such symptoms of degeneration certainly the present could afford it, yet withal we can hardly suppress the thought that our words, our limited views, are responsible for it all. In thus commencing a scrutiny of our present discrepancies we must bear this in mind.

"Everything is only for a day," wrote Marcus Aurelius, "both that which remembers and that which is remembered." How cheering the thought that as all races of animals become extinct at some period in the earth's history, humanity will eventually follow suit after that trifling moment of universal time. Our little civilizations are like castles of sand—the helpless playthings of infinite forces—mere ant hills in the desert of space. Thus it is with life and the planets upon which life exists.

At its zenith of power, wealth and intelligence, the Anglo-Saxon race stands before the brink of a future in which gloom plays no uncertain part. Its slowly declining birth rate, the rampant selfishness materialism of America, with its shallow "wealth" of dollars and sorry dearth of men, the descendants of the Pilgrim Fathers must view with considerable apprehension, and particularly the insidious preponderance of "foreign" races—the European, the Black, and the Mongolian. The time is not far distant when, merged in that complex polyglot of races, his history, his ideals, and his energy will be things of the past.

The slow decline of the Roman republic and its transformation into the age of the Empire was accompanied by changes which in many respects are analogous to those of to-day. Belief in the old religious rites and the primitive Roman gods disappeared, and with it that superstitious devotion which alone seems capable of holding the masses above moral depravity. Rude, rough and narrow, these virile old Romans held something to be sacred, but their later offspring, fondled by the prosperity of the empire, pampered by its enervating indolence, were devoid of any religion until Christianity rose swiftly from the ruins of racial demoralization, and so to-day we see the waning of the church. The old fixed dogma, and narrow superstitious reverence for legends and myths is fading. The dance hall, the cheap show, the automobile, the thousand modes of luxury and entertainment are increasing. We see the dour, surfaced Puritan with his staunch adherence to the "Word of God" replaced by the loud-mouthed, light-brained devotee of the jazz band, to whom nothing is sacred but noise and pleasure. However, it is true that with all our epicureanism we have not yet attained that stage of depravity which characterized the later Romans. There is yet much energy, ambition and moral backbone to prevent a too sudden decline.

Biologically there is nothing new in this. This is the way of life—that species follow upon species and race upon race, until the extinction of life itself. Moral energy has not been perpetual in any race, hence it behoves us to make use of it while it lasts. To the vast hordes of Mongolians the future lies. They proliferate while we decline and it is for us to hand down the achievements of our efforts. We must give them the best and noblest of our racial elements that progress and not another period of mediaeval darkness and ignorance descend upon us.

Viewed from this angle the Foreign missions of the so-called "Christian" Church have proved of invaluable value in spreading western ideas and ideals in the Far East. Invention and world-wide commerce have lightened the bond of human races, so that no longer can we fear the disastrous onslaughts of the uncivilized but only at most the insidious replacement of our own old native stock by the smaller, littler, more peaceful races of the East.

Submerged in that great future melting pot of all human races where inbreeding of the highest qualities of our race seems futile, and Eugenics as a rational science for human development, helpless before the force of sentiment and ignorance, when the defective races blended with the more intelligent bring humanity to the monotony of mediocrity, our tall, broad shoulders, fair haired, blue eyed Nordic—he who made Greece, and the civilization of to-day will have disappeared.

NEW GRAND.

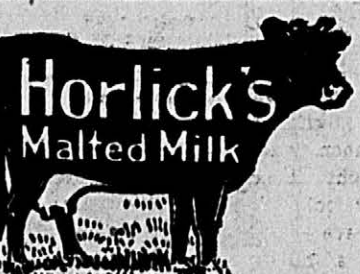

Next week's feature attraction at the New Grand Theatre, starting Sunday, will be a veritable laugh-fest, namely: Mr. and Mrs. Carter DeHaven in the photoplay version of the great stage success, "Twin Beds," which is guaranteed as an antidote for gloom. Few films have been made that compare to this one in point of mirthful comedy, and you can rest assured that you are going to be happier for its visit to this theatre. In the very first place, Carter DeHaven or any other comedian never did succeed in portraying a character so funny as Signor Monti, the Italian singer who rises to fame before he can get his much bigger wife conquered. Moreover, no playwright ever devised a better series of excruciatingly funny situations than Margaret Mayo and Salisbury Field did in this excellent story. A funny man in funny situations could not be otherwise than successful in driving away the "blues" wherever they exist. It is a pleasure for the management of the New Grand Theatre to do its share towards making life merrier for its patrons, and it is the enjoyment of this pleasure which causes us to go considerably out of our way and to a great deal of extra expense to secure "Twin Beds" for our screen. Now since it is coming your way, prepare for the jolliest evening of the season, and, remember, to miss it will be your distinct loss.

Other features make up the bill. The New Grand Concert Orchestra, under the direction of David S. Levin, will render special musical numbers.

CITY LEAGUE FORMS PLANS FOR SEASON

Hockey League Will Be Composed Of Eight Teams.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Games Will Be Played At Arena.

A meeting of the Montreal Hockey League was held in the Union last evening. The meeting was attended by representatives from each of the teams. It was decided that the games will be played at the Mount Royal Arena, and no artificial ice will be used. The games will be played in single schedule, and it was agreed that there would be no play-off, which resulted so unfortunate for McGill last year. The league will be composed of the same teams as last year:

M.A.A.A.
Westmount A.A.
Shamrocks
Loyola
Victoria
Nationals
St. Ann's
McGill.

The Red and Whites are going to have two senior teams this season, and in this way the Red and Whites will be able to show their highest form both in the City League and in the Intercollegiate.

Practices will begin as soon as it is cold enough to make ice, and under the guidance of "Shag" it is expected that the men will give their opponents a lively time.
